The top secret of COVID-19: Beijing has an antidote for a long time!? - Temple of Literature - World Wide Blog - World Wide Reader Network (Computer Version)

The outbreak of Wuhan virus pneumonia has not been accepted so far. Seeing this topic, some people may take it as a "rumor" or a hypothetical question to be investigated. If it is the latter, the question that directly exposes this hypothesis is, why have so many people, even social elites, who have died without treatment? The answer is actually very simple. But please put this question as well. Let's start with the source of the disease. Wuhan pneumonia is caused by the novel coronavirus, its origin, the location of the first outbreak, and how it is transmitted to humans are the key to understanding the pandemic. Here we only discuss very simple logical reasoning: a Wuhan child asked why the plague occurred in Wuhan, not in so many other backward countries that eat bats and panana, and the southern provinces of China?

No matter how smart and smooth you are, you can't avoid the fact that Wuhan has a mysterious world-class P4 virus experimental institute. According to the simple logic of children, with the only P4 escort in Asia, Wuhan should be the safest big city in the world that will be free from being torn by the virus. But God won't joke. The biggest viral plague in modern times has indeed occurred in Wuhan! Excluding the relationship between the plague and the virus experimental research institute, whether direct or indirect, the witness can only be the Beijing official himself. At present, the epidemic has spread to 50 countries, endangering all mankind, and Beijing officials do not explain, do not allow the outside world (independent third parties) to verify, and cannot come up with sufficient or even decent evidence to refute the close relationship between the plague and the virus experimental research institute. Therefore, there can only be one answer: Wuhan Research Institute is the source of the plague. This is not a conspiracy theory, but a conspiracy directly shown by the Communist Party of China to the world.

But Beijing did not do nothing. After a period of panic, it began to use all its strength to borrow the mouths of "celebrities" to recite books. Of course, all the "swearing" could not provide specific evidence that P4 and Shi Zhengli and others had never been involved in the case, nor could they explain and refute the conclusions of the previously published papers. It can't even erase the "joy" of the successful introduction of coronavirus on the Internet and the "Wuhan Virus Release Success Exercise Competition" specially set up for coronavirus on September 18, 2019. Are these all coincidences? How many people have heard of coronavirus before this plague? In any case, these facts remind people of the "Pandora's box" in Wang Yi's mouth at the same time, and the "Jade and Stone Burn" that suddenly appeared in Lin Zhengyue's mouth.

In the scientific community, there are some basic principles. Real scientists will be very careful when explaining a scientific phenomenon or conclusion, and will not use 100% absolute tone. Scientists have obtained enough evidence. With a conclusion, they will only say "possibility", not "other possibility", and so on. Because all responsible people know that science has its limitations. Those "experts" who endorse Beijing are not ignorant, but take the opportunity to fall into the well and tell the audience in another way: the Wuhan virus does not come from nature, but is a biological and chemical weapon that is artificially recombined. And this 100% absolute tone just satisfies his pocket and Beijing's desire at the same time, and also magnifies Beijing's conspiracy a hundred times, which has become a joke in the scientific community.

Therefore, as long as ordinary people hear that an outsider has not been to the P4 virus laboratory and has personally investigated, no matter how many "Nobel Prizes" he has won, the conclusion given by others is the truth. He is not discussing the problem at this time, but a complete liar.

How does Beijing control the coronavirus? With the chain of evidence given by themselves for several consecutive years, the source of the virus has been basically answered. For details, please refer to the separate article <New Virus Manufacturing and Leakage of the Party's Heartbreak (with evidence pictures)>. Because the demonstration in Hong Kong was difficult to control, Lin Zhengyuemo issued a warning of "burning all jade and stones" in August last year, which can be said to be well-intentioned! Beijing has repeatedly proposed a time limit for the final solution to the so-called "Hong Kong problem". There is no doubt that Hong Kong in the second half of 2019 is the thorn in Beijing's heart, and it is the black swan of many "knowledgeable people" within the Communist Party of China. With the Sino-US trade war approaching step by step, any extreme "solution" plan has been put on the table. Listen to the video of Chi Haotian 20 years ago on the Internet. The research of the Communist Party of China on biological and chemical weapons has been on the road for a long time, but it has been immature. As the secret weapon of the "extra-limit war", the senior leadership of the Communist Party of China has long been unable to hold back their inner ecstasy, constantly releasing the wind to the outside world, playing a game of chess that others can't understand, and frequently giving prizes to Shi Zhengli and others. Do you really think that "Awesome Country" is just a mouth-like slogan?

However, the ancestor of the novel coronavirus, the peak of the SAS virus epidemic in 2002/2003 was from November in winter to April of the following year, similar to other infectious diseases. Due to limited knowledge of the field transmission of the novel coronavirus, on-site drills must be completed by the end of November. The reasonable inference is the above-mentioned "Coronavirus Release Military Drill" held at Wuhan Tianhe Airport on September 18, the 7th "Military Games" in Wuhan held on October 18-27, and the broadcast of Wuhan Radio and Television Station on November 7: Wuhan Jinyintan Hospital found and cured Five imported infectious disease patients (reported to be viral infection at that time). It was not until February 24 that the hospital was forced to respond to the above news, saying that "the disease is an infectious disease caused by mosquito bites or the patient's entry of blood with malaria parasites, the main symptoms are fever, fear of cold and loss of appetite." I don't know why there were mosquito bites in Wuhan at that time? And it's still a mass infection. Whether it is imported or obtained in Wuhan, have you reported it to WHO or the National Health Commission? How to explain that Wuhan Naval Engineering College was closed as early as December and checked for people with fever? In September and October last year, a variety of emergency health accident drills were held in various parts of China. Long English articles have also been leaked on the Internet. Some people are also preparing to conduct small-scale testing in Xinjiang concentration camps and then use them in Hong Kong. Unfortunately, Wuhan was chosen in the end. It may be easy to push the foreign team participating in the Military Games if something happens!

The Communist Party of China's over-limit war really exceeded the Party's restrictions, which is an important part of Beijing's miscalculation. After the failure of the military games, the high-level officials tried their best to fight the fire and desperately concealed the "big chessboard" of the super-limit war known to only a few people. The Li Wenliang incident is a clear proof! The specific details may be kept secret forever. Scientists, including Gao Fu and other scientists in the science and technology community, rushed overseas after unable to find normal channels to report the epidemic, took advantage of the loophole of "export to domestic sales" to publish the epidemic overseas. According to incomplete statistics, 54 English papers have been published overseas by the end of January. Its unprecedented speed forced the official to disclose the epidemic on January 20, close Wuhan on January 23, and of course completely close the P4 virus laboratory.

The team of Zhang Yongzhen, a researcher at the Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention and an adjunct professor at the School of Public Health of Fudan University, was the first to publish the sequence of COVID-19 on the virological.org website for global researchers to share. They submitted the genetic sequence on the morning of January 11, Beijing time. However, according to people familiar with the matter, the P3 laboratory of Shanghai Public Health Clinical Center, where Zhang Yongzhen is located, was investigated by the relevant departments on January 12 and was "closed and rectified" the next day.

China's well-known <Caixin.com> broke the news on February 26, saying that the new virus may appear between September 23, 2019 and December 15, 2019. There is no time evolutionary relationship between COVID-19 and the bat coronavirus RaTG13, which is most similar to the genetic sequence. According to another article on the same day, "Huada" completed the DNA sequence determination of many cases of viruses as early as the end of December. It was especially emphasized that on January 1, "Huada" received a telephone notice from the officials of the Hubei Health and Key Committee: no more inspection, all samples must be destroyed, and no information and papers should be disclosed to the outside world. Fortunately, Zhang Yongzhen's team in Shanghai leaked the net. The top secret of the virus quickly spread all over the world, and the Communist Party of China's over-limit war completely turned into a suicide war.

Back to the topic of this article. The development and identification of most drugs depend on biochemical data such as DNA sequence, protein structure and function. If Beijing has already mastered the virus, there is no reason not to develop an antidote to the epidemic, including animal experiments and other work. There are several possibilities now. The first hypothesis is that the "antidote" has been successfully developed, but it is not convenient to take it out immediately. Because experts know that it takes months and a large number of "blind tests" for patients to identify drug performance. If the information is leaked too early, it will not be self-tricked, admitting that the "new" virus has been secretly tried long ago, and it will not be revealed that the Communist Party of China is the maker or owner of the virus?

You can recall that after the outbreak of the plague, WeChat guided the trend of plague treatment. Academician Zhong Nanshan, who was blown as a god, had no antidote, but he first knew that the virus was transmitted from person to person, and the incubation period was 14 days. Someone leaked the secret and found that an expert's paper mentioned the 14-day "incubation period" of the coronavirus. Then Academician Zhong inexplicably mentioned an old drug to treat malaria. Did it imply that the five "imported infectious disease patients" were found and cured in Wuhan Jinyintan Hospital in October/November 2019? The plot is really weird. Recently, traditional Chinese medicine has been hotly hyed on the Internet. It is said that it has seen more than 90% of the therapeutic effect, which was immediately questioned by many people. In fact, both Academician Zhong and herbal medicine are more or less the children of the Party and the state. Please find the answer by yourself! One thing is certain, Beijing is running to take the lead in clinical testing of perfect antidotes and vaccines, but not being suspected of the virus.

The second possibility is greater. Beijing has not yet mastered the perfect antidote and vaccine. Because of the confidence of the "powerful country", it has never been considered that the result would be such a failure. Bannon, the former chief strategic adviser of the White House, recently interviewed an American biological and chemical weapons expert. He knew early on that the coronavirus was not suitable as a biological and chemical weapon at all, because its characteristics were extremely difficult to control and easy to hurt himself. Obviously, Shi Zhengli, who is eager to ask for credit, is not completely clear, and she does not have many known virus options. For example, it is rumored on the Internet that Qiu Xiangguo stole the SAS virus from Canada. Now, after a large number of patients have experienced, it has been found that patients have an incubation period of more than 14 days, and uncertain factors such as mortality and asymptomatic infection vary greatly. When the viral load is too large, there will be the infection of aerosols, feces, sweat and urine, and the failure of other organs. In the laboratory, Shi Zhengli did not unconditionally test the load of the actual population. This can also explain why the official news only accurately mentioned the typical symptoms of the respiratory tract in the military exercise at Wuhan Airport on 9/18, but did not expect that the coronavirus released would escape from the hands of the "son soldiers", and the exercise became a disaster for the people of Wuhan.

Based on biochemical data such as DNA sequence, protein structure and function, the Americans provided the antiviral drug of Redxivir for testing, and quickly started the development of the vaccine. This is indeed what Beijing does not want to see, so it dare not publish the WHO's recommendation of Redcivir to continue to fool the greatness of the People's Party. Some people are dreaming that once the Party has exclusively grasped the secrets of virus prevention and control, that is, when the "community of human destiny" turns around, who dares not bow down? Who dares not obey me obediently? It's a pity that man's calculation is not as good as God's calculation. The Communist Party of China will never understand God's will, and it is also its fate to go all the way to the dark.
